1: Jointly Developed

Describe how the School works with parents and families to develop and review relevant plans, policies, and strategies related to engagement.

Guiding Questions

- 1.1: How does the School - in collaboration with parents - establish an engagement plan that reflects the specific academic improvement needs of the School, and that includes programs and practices that enhance engagement and address the specific engagement needs of students and their families?
[A.C.A. § 6-15-1702(a)]

[ESSA § 1116(c)(3)]

Annie Camp Junior High has a family and community engagement committee that consists of teachers, administrators, parents, and community members. This group works together to develop a family and community engagement plan that addresses the specific needs of the students and families at Annie Camp Junior High. (1.1)

Parents, teachers, administrators recommend family, and community members to serve on the FACE committee. We strive for representation that reflects the diversity of our student population. At the beginning of each school year, a recruitment meeting is held at the school to provide information about our PAC (Parents of Annie Camp) group. Parent meetings are advertised via text, robocall, and social media, in an effort to increase parent participation. AC FACE committee members will personally reach out to parents and ask them to be involved. Comments and suggestions regarding engagement are welcomed at any time throughout the year and can be emailed to the school FACE coordinator, Elizabeth Corey, at elizabeth.corey@jonesboroschools.net. (1.2)

2: Communication

[ESSA § 1116(e)(5)]
- 2.3: How does the School offer flexible opportunities for meetings with families?

Packets are also distributed during the first week of school for those who did not attend Open House, and packets are distributed to all newly registered students during the school year. A digital version of the information packet is posted on the Annie Camp Junior High website. A QR code for the volunteer survey is included in the packet and a Google form for the survey is posted on the Parent Center website. Paper copies are also available for parents to fill out during parent-teacher conferences, Open House, etc. (2.1)

Information is distributed to parents in a variety of ways, including automated text messages, emails, and phone calls, social media posts, marquee messages, and paper copies. We also use TransAct to make information available in multiple languages. Translators are available if needed, and parents may use translation apps on the ipads available in the library. In addition to these methods of communication, teachers use resources such as Remind, Google Classroom to communicate with their specific students' parents. Teachers also maintain a Google Sites website where parents are able to view daily lesson plans (2.2).

Annie Camp offers flexible meeting times by allowing parents to schedule meetings before school, during the school day, or after school. We also provide a long window of time (6 hours from 2:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m.) during our parent-teacher conferences in an effort to be available for as many parents as possible. (2.3)

Each teacher maintains a website where detailed lesson plans and information about the curriculum are posted on a weekly basis. Teachers also post the essential standards for their grade-level along with the standards that are matched up with each lesson. At the fall parent-teacher conference, parents are given a report that includes their child's results on the state assessment and local district assessment. The report includes a readiness score range and a national and state score comparison. If the parent/guardian does not attend parent-teacher conferences, the report will be mailed to their home address (4.1).

A yearly Title I meeting is held and parents are made aware of this meeting through multiple calls, posts, and announcements. Parents have access to HAC (Home Access Center) to check their child's grades. Assistance is provided to parents needing help with access. Progress reports are sent home every two weeks, in order to help parents stay aware of their child's progress. Teachers are required to make at least 20 contacts with parents each month and provide documentation of that contact. (4.2)

The parent center contains multiple books on a wide variety of parenting topics and games that are available for checkout. The school also provides access to desktop computers, ipads, and a printer for parents (4.3).

Resources are posted online under the "Parent Center" tab of the library media center webpage. Parent Nights have a component geared toward educating parents and family members on how to improve their child's achievement. Our parent group has regularly scheduled monthly meetings held on the third Wednesday of every month. All parents are invited to attend these meetings and information about date/times/locations will be included in the Open House packet as well as posted on social media. Parents will continually be invited to attend meetings and contribute to the development of school goals throughout the year via phone call, text message, email, and social media. During these meetings, parents will have the opportunity to participate in school decisions and provide input from a parent's perspective in regards to matters such as evaluating the effectiveness of the school improvement plan. A survey will be sent out at the beginning of the school year asking parents if they are interested in volunteer opportunities. The school FACE coordinator will take that information and create a volunteer resource book and provide volunteer training. A Google Form will be available year-round on the school website where parents can apply to volunteer at the school. Parents will be informed of important day-to-day announcements via email and Google Classroom notifications. (4.4, 4.5).

There is a parent center located inside the library media center and parents are invited to attend informative events throughout the school year. Invites are sent out via email and text message and are posted on social media (4.5).

Parent Nights will be held at least once a semester to involve families and community members in activities at the school.
